

Doing the Will of God and Not the Will of Man

³²“I will reach my goal.” ... ³³...“I must keep going today and tomorrow and the next day.” —Jesus (Luke 13)

In our text this morning, Jesus is confronted by the Pharisees who warn him of Herod’s attempt to find, capture, and remove him from the scene of history. Jesus, adamant about the task the Father has set before him, will not succumb to the schemes of the one he calls “the sly fox.” Instead, he sets his face resolutely towards Jerusalem, determined to see it through to the bitter end. But, WAIT! Is that all there is for Jesus—to die like the other prophets in Jerusalem? Listen in this morning as we discover the BLESSING that comes about because of obedience to the will of God—not the will of man. Welcome to all who worship with us!

Notes:

For Thought and Discussion

If pressed for an answer, are you clear as to what God’s will is for your life right NOW? How about for his church? What are some of the tools you have used to discern God’s will over against man’s will in the past? How would you handle a situation where God’s will is very clear, yet the people around you want you to do something different?
